"DOC" WHITE LEAVES

Chicago's Star Twirler Off for the Windy City.

PREDICTS BEST SEASON YET

Central High School Boys Present Him with Handsome Present—National's Uniforms About Same as Last Season—Boston Americans Start for Hot Springs To-day.

By WILLIAM PEEET.

"Doc" G. Harry White, of this city, the great southpaw twirler of the Chicago Americans, is the first of the local baseball colony to pull up stakes for spring practice. "Doc" leaves this noon for Chicago to join the White Sox. He said last night:

"I never felt better in my life, and have a hunch that this will be my banner season. I have added a little weight and have not known a sick day all winter."

"As I said before, I believe Flieder Jones is sincere in his desire to quit baseball, and Owner Comiskey will have to look around for another leader. I hear that Billy Sullivan has been mentioned. I hope he is chosen, for I believe he will make a good man."

Concerning the White Sox prospects next season, the twirler said:

"It looks to me as if our club would be stronger and go better than last season. I have heard a lot about Scott, the latest acquisition to the twirling staff from the Wichita (Kans.) club, and they tell me there is another left-hander signed that looks good. Our pitching staff will be stronger than ever. Don't worry about Ed Walsh; he will get into line all right."

White says that Manager Comiskey has written him to again have charge of the Yankinns after the team splits up on the Coast, and he intends to give the youngsters a big work.

With this squad is Johnny Beall, the local youngster signed last fall by the Chicago management. White thinks Beall will make a strong bid for one of the outfield jobs.

Doc White coached this season's Central High school baseball squad and yesterday was given a handsome pair of gold cuff buttons from his charges at the O street institution.

The veteran twirler was much surprised and made a brief reply to the members of the squad, wishing them luck in their coming campaign and again offering to do anything possible to boost the chances of the Dark Side and White.

Doc White took charge of the squad early in the season and has devoted a great deal of his time to whipping the aggregation into shape and, although he has had them out but once since taking the reins, the outfit is in tip top condition and plainly shows the fruits of conscientious coaching.

Pitching candidates in particular have received valuable instruction and the entire squad is itself jubilant over the wonders the big league southpaw has worked during the comparatively short length of time.

As stated exclusively in this paper, "Dolly" Gray, the Pacific Coast twirler, has emphatically denied the story published some time ago that he is holding out for more money.

Gray's contract is now in the hands of President Noyes, and the big pitcher will report for early season work down in Galveston with the other members of the Nationals.

Pacific Coast fans say that if Bill Burns made such a showing as he reported last season, Gray will do a whole lot better, providing things break right, as the latter is considered a much more brilliant pitcher than Burns. Washington fans will doubtless be satisfied if Gray shows up even as well as did Burns last year.

It has been decided that the uniforms of the Nationals will be about the same as last year. The traveling suits will be of black flannel, with a white "W" on the breast and black and white striped visors. The stockings will be black, with a three-inch stripe above the ankle.

While at home, the white uniforms will be worn with white caps and a black visor. The stockings and letter will be black also.

A dispatch from Boston says: The Boston Americans will start for Hot Springs, Ark., Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. That is, the New England contingent, headed by Manager Fred Lake. In this party will be Secretary Riley, Trainer Green, Players Harry Lord, Carrigan, and Madden. There will also be, in addition to the newspaper men, seven 15-karat fans, in the persons of "Bill" Cahill, Frank Keough, "Nuf" Cady, McGreevey, John Glancy, Con Murphy, Pat Donohue, and Eugene Shea. The last three are personal friends of Manager Lake. In the party when the train pulls into Hot Springs there is likely to be forty-four. Quite a bunch of players, rosters, and scribes.

The start for the training camp will be made from New York on Thursday, February 25. By this time McConnell, Wagner, and Steele will have joined the bunch. At Philadelphia Doc Gessler, the new captain, and Catcher Spencer will get aboard. Friday the train goes to Cincinnati, and here Thoney, Niles, French, Elman, Morgan, Ciochetti, Pat Donohue, and one or two more will join.

A day's lay-off at Portknox is the order of procedure, the start for the Springs being at 6 p. m. at Louisville, Barker, and Steele will get aboard.

The Red Sox party is due to arrive at Hot Springs next Saturday. President John I. Taylor will head a delegation that starts from the Pacific Coast, getting into Hot Springs about the same time. Mr. Taylor will have under his care the following players: Speaker Stahl, Thielman, Wood, Arelanes, Danzig, and Wolters. Pitchers Chech and Ryan are likely to be at Cincinnati when the main bunch gets there. If not, they will make Hot Springs in time to begin with the others.

February 23, Sunday, will be a day of rest for the men, the actual work upon the new ball field beginning March 1. For eighteen days, with weather's permission, the boys will get that fat off and limber up for the Regulars vs. Yankinns series. The schedule of games has not undergone any changes. The first game will be with Memphis, and then on to the assembling of the Regulars and Yankinns at Philadelphia for the opening of the season on April 12.

BUYS A CROKER HORSE.

King Edward to Present Animal to the Sultan of Turkey.

London, Feb. 23.—King Edward is making the Sultan of Turkey a present of a charger, once the property of Mr. Richard Croker. The history of the gift makes a pretty story.

Some weeks ago the Sultan was asked by high officials to proceed sometimes to the mosque on horseback, instead of in his carriage, in order that his subjects might have a better chance of seeing him. The Sultan replied with a smile: "Yes, if a bay horse can be found with three white spots on his feet, one on each hind foot and one on a fore foot, a white spot between the eyes, and a tail reaching to the ground."

This was reported to King Edward, who telegraphed throughout the United Kingdom, inquiring if such a horse were procurable. A beautiful animal answering the description was found in Dublin in the stud of Lord Ribblesdale, and was secured by the King.

The horse formerly belonged to Mr. Croker, and took first prize at the Dublin Horse Show. The King, the Chronicle says, has christened the charger with his own title, "Rex Imperator."

Jimmy Mulligan says that Mel Shepard will wake up some morning and find that he is no longer king of middle distance runners.—A chap named Gissing seems to have the call.

"Doc" White leaves us for Chicago to-day. Here's hoping you win every game, "Doc," except those pitched against the Nationals.

Queen Victoria of Spain refused to allow the King to take a trip in an airship. There's a suggestion in this for Joe Cantillon. He might get the Queen to have a little talk with Tom Hughes before the baseball season opens.

News Item—Lem Gray, of Freeport, Me., has bought a lot of the rural cemetery. He might get the Queen to have a little talk with Tom Hughes before the baseball season opens.

Now that the fleet has arrived in Norfolk safely, Manager Corcoran can go ahead with the Georgetown games.

Race track men in town were not a bit pained because Gov. Hughes paid us a little visit. If they said anything they kept it to themselves.

Referee Pat O'Connor is going to give a little box party some night this week at the theater where Joe Turner is meeting all comers. Joe Gans, Kid Sullivan, Bill Bell, and other well-known pugilists will be in the party.

For fear that readers of this column residing in Norfolk would pass us by at this time, we have had our nautical poet indict the following:

Heave ho, for Sperry and the fleet!
Heave ho, heave ho, for the fleet!
In fact, heave ho for any old thing,
So long as the rhymes agree.

Then man the jib-boom marlin spike,
Or for a gallant start;
Let go the mizzen-boom-boom—
The foretop yards belay.

We'll sing about the ceaseless sea,
And men that know no fear.
In order to surround this verse
With the proper atmosphere.

There was unmistakable envy shown by every chorus girl at Kernan's on Monday night, when they gazed on wrestler "Pug" Patterson's perambulating pants. "Pug" showed everything but envy. We would suggest that he wear his deep-sea diving costume in future bouts.

In one of the hardest and most interesting basketball games played this season in the Mount Pleasant gym, the second and quint, representing the Friends of Gutter and Walker were defeated for the first time by the first five of the Young Men's Club, by 18 to 12.

The game was snappy and full of life from the beginning to end, the teams being evenly matched and showing excellent team work.

The goal tossing and all-around playing of Gutter and Walker were the features of the game, the former tossing four goals.

ANALOSTANS HOLD SHOOT.

Good Scores Mark Initial Performance of Club Experts.

The Analostan gun sharps held their first spring shoot yesterday, and although the experts showed a lack of practice, some excellent scores resulted.

This was the first meeting since the shoots held in October, a full gallery following the scores with interest. Next day the weather is beginning to moderate and it is the intention of the club to again resume its weekly meets, and several of the club's experts have begun work for the season.

Terminals vs. First Battalion. Terminal Y. M. C. A. and First Battalion basketball teams will lock horns in the former's gym to-night and from the recent performance of both aggregations a good game should result.

NOVEL STUNT THIS

Boxer Jem Driscoll Takes Champagne Baths.

THE FEATHER-WEIGHT TITLE

Neither Abe Attell nor Little Englishman Can Rightly Claim the Honor Until the Pair Have Met in a Twenty-five Round Bout and Official Verdict of Referee Rendered.

Every fighter of renown has some superstition or other queer idea, to be sure, but interesting to those who follow the game.

In New York last week, during the Driscoll-Attell fight, ringside spectators were amused to see Driscoll's seconds uncork a bottle of champagne and pour it all over the little Briton's dome, the bottled laughter trickling down his face and back. This incident occurred in the seventh round.

"Driscoll has pulled off this stunt in every one of his important fights," says William Faversham, the actor, who was in Washington last week and who is a warm personal friend of the little boxer. Faversham added: "Driscoll always takes the champagne bath at the close of the seventh round, and says that it gives him new courage and life."

A few weeks ago Driscoll boxed Leach Cross, known as "the fighting dentist." When told in his dressing room that his opponent was a dentist, Driscoll thought it was some American joke, and almost refused to believe it to be the truth. All through the fight the idea recurred to him and he could not repress smiling as a well-directed punch rocked his opponent's head or knocked out a tooth.

"Another job for the dentist, old chap," Driscoll would hurl at him between jabs. Cross was a fit subject for a dentist, all right, when Driscoll got through with him.

Several readers are anxious to know whether the work of the dentist, the changed hands on the result of the Driscoll-Attell bout last Friday night. In reply it may be said in the first place that neither Attell nor Driscoll can call himself a world's champion. Attell, after McGovern had been beaten by Young Corbett and the latter became too heavy to possess the feather-weight championship, without actually winning it from anybody. He has defended the title successfully at the American limit, 122 pounds, ever since, but he is not the champion of the world. He is simply champion of America, while Driscoll, by virtue of his victories over Jack Bowker and Charley Griffin is recognized as one of England's best.

According to precedent in pugilism a championship cannot change hands except in case of a knock-out, a foul or a decision on points by a referee. As none of these things happened in Friday's bout both Driscoll and Attell retained their respective titles. The question of which has a right to be called the feather-weight champion of the world, therefore, cannot be settled until the men have met in a longer bout, say of twenty-five rounds, in which they may reach a decisive result either by a knock-out or an official verdict by the third man in the ring.

Manager Gansel, of the Rochester Club, has put through a deal with the New York Nationals for Pitcher Beecher.

After last week's events the fans must agree that the umpire-baiting by the players is not so disgusting as picking between the club owners.

"Socks" Seybold has signed to play with the Toledo club, and will be alongside of Charles Hickox. What a mob there will be in the outfield.

Reporting time is here, and thank goodness the magistrates must now get out and stay out of the baseball limelight for the next seven months, at least.

Two umpires, it is said, are going to make their decisions as to how Joe Tinker swapes up as an actor. Joe will no doubt get the worst of it. It's a chance for the umpires to get even.

Manager Stallings should be able to make up a strong infield for the New York Americans from this material: Chase, Gardner, Laporte, Conroy, Jack Knight, Joe Ward, Austin, Engle, and Elberfeld.

Philadelphia Club Man Goes Five Rounds with Pugilist.

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.—Before a large assemblage of women, among whom, however, were numbered but a handful of members of society, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien mixed it up with the gloves to-night in the Athletic Club, of Philadelphia. They exchanged a series of warm and variegated jabs for five thirty-second rounds. O'Brien emerged with a cut lip and Biddle with a very red nose.

The society man started the bout with a whirlwind of blows, but he soon lost his wind and was no match for the clever footwork of the more experienced pugilist. The bout was preceded by four fist contests between professional fighters and two between amateurs. No blood was drawn, the boxers being instructed not to make their exhibition too realistic lest the fair sex be shocked. The exhibition was given for the express entertainment of the wives and sisters of the club members, and was crowded.

LOWE TO BOX BURNS.

Pair Slated to Clash in Baltimore Monday Night.

Tommy Lowe, the local favorite, and Soldier Burns, one of the best of Baltimore's present day scrappers, are booked for fifteen rounds of milling before the Monumental Club of Baltimore Monday night.

The men have signed articles. The Southern light-weight title is the issue. From recent performances Lowe is in a fair way of landing the honor. Burns sprang into the limelight by twice defeating Kid Sullivan.

Another little item which may lend inspiration to Lowe is Al Herford's offer to put him on in a twenty-round bout with Kid Sullivan, should he beat or obtain a draw with Burns.

NAPS LAND ANDRADA.

Mexican Twirler Is Signed Through Stovall's Recommendation.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 23.—Frank Andrada, of California, is the Naps' new southpaw. He has been signed by the Cleveland club on the recommendation of George Stovall. The Cleveland management does not know whether Andrada is a Mexican or not, but his name leads President Kilfoyl to hope he is a second Arelanes.

Andrada has been pitching for an independent team near Los Angeles. Stovall has been batting against him out there, and wrote to Secretary Barnard, asking permission to bring Andrada to Mobile with him.

"He's a wonder," wrote Stovall. "I think he's a big find."

Player Fined $100.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 23.—The national baseball commission to-day granted the request of a player, Edward C. McDougald, former member of the New York National League club, who failed to report for reinstatement. He was fined, however, $100.

KLINE IN GANS CAMP.

Well-known Boxers Working Out at Berwyn, Md.

Baltimore, Feb. 23.—Manager Al Herford received a telegram from Newark last night, in which Patsy Kline stated he would leave for Berwyn, Md., early this morning to finish up his training work for his bout scheduled in this city next Friday with "Reddy" Moore, of Philadelphia, for fifteen rounds, before the Eureka Athletic and Social Club, at Germania Maennerchor Hall.

As expected, ex-Champion Gans left yesterday for the Sullivan camp at Berwyn, where he will shape up for his match with Jabez White, scheduled to take place March 12, before the National Athletic Club, of New York City.

Working with Gans for about a week should prove highly beneficial for the Newark lad, as Joe can undeniably give him more than a few pointers about the game that should prove highly valuable.

Gans will work steadily with the "champion" during the day of the contest, when Joe will come to this city with Kline and act as his chief adviser when he faces Moore.

There is no doubt that the Cy Young deal has made the fans sit up and take notice.

BASEBALL NOTES AND COMMENT

There is no doubt that the Cy Young deal has made the fans sit up and take notice.

Once again it has been decided that Hal Chase will play first base for the Yankees next season.

By the way, the Polo grounds will seat about 35,000 when they get through with the new stands.

Roger Breanahan may get Jimmie Slagle, the Cub outfielder. He is slated to leave the Windy City.

The baseball fans have reached the time now where they are counting the days before the baseball season.

Lumley, the new manager, wants to wage some iron men that the Brooklyn team finishes in the first division.

Sebring will help the Brooklyn outfield considerably. He is a good one on the bases, and not bad with the stick.

Fred Merkle will get a roving reception, even if he failed to touch second, when he gets back to the Polo grounds.

It is rumored that Sockalexis, who could play some ball at one time, is going to get back in the game. It's only a rumor.

And now Harry McCormick is holding out for a larger salary than McGraw has offered him.

Manager Gansel, of the Rochester Club, has put through a deal with the New York Nationals for Pitcher Beecher.
